Tele-beep Paging Co. is a one-way local area, single transmitter paging company that does not offer IP enabled services, voice mail services, or data retrieval services. Pagers are reached only by dialing a local phone number assigned to a pager via any method that can access the local phone company. Tele-beep does not sell or give out any information regarding these access numbers unless under governmental order. Tele-beep does not have caller ID capabilities in its paging terminal and therefore does not know who is dialing the pager access numbers. Tele-beep currently has 60 active paging numbers that are in service. These numbers are not listed by us with any data service provider of any type. Tele-beep Paging Co. does not have access to any of our customer's network information.

I am the sole employee of Tele-beep Paging Co. and am the only person that has any information regarding our customers.
